TRAINEE POSITIONS AND RECOGNITION OF TRAINING ABROAD

Training in Germany as an EU Member

Can EU citizens participate in training in Germany?

Yes, they can! Because of the principles of freedom of establishment and the freedom to provide services everybody can work in Germany and be given a training place offer. But you need appropriate grades and provide proof of language knowledge within the occupational area.

How is the training process?

The training in Germany is dual. That means that you collect work experience for three years in a company and attend school simultaneously.

After the first and second year you have to pass an intermediate inspection, and after you have finished your third year the audit.

How can I receive training?

Trainings are offered by the companies, so you have to apply directly to the company that you are interested in. You have to apply one year ahead of schedule (mostly in September).

An employment agency helps you to apply.

Because of the economic situation in Germany there are more training positions than candidates.
